Lightning Link Plans (for the AR-15 rifle)

The parts for the Lightning Link can be made from tool steel, machined with great precision, hardened and tempered with loving care, the polished to a high gloss that your mother would be proud of. On the other hand, using only a couple of pieces of power hacksaw blade to make the parts from, a dremel tool, hand drill and one or two files to do the work, you can cut out the Lightning Link in about an hour.

The first description will make a link that you could most likely pass on to your great grandkids. The second may not last that long, but I know of one made from mild steel, that has never been hardened or tempered. It's been used to fire over 5,000 rounds, and still going strong. All that ever goes wrong with it is the part of the bolt carrier hits gets peened over after about five or six hundred rounds. When that happens, the woman that owns it drops it out of the gun, puts it on the rear bumper of her jeep and beats it back in shape with a rock.
